

<< back to story >>

Portland Press Herald Maine Sunday Telegram

HERE COMES THE SUN

June 11, 2008

John Patriquin/Staff Photographer

Ray Montana and Roland Cournoyer of Ascendant Energy Co. prepare a solar panel to be installed at Oakhurst Dairy.

Solar panels are being installed on the Oakhurst Dairy buildings in Portland by the Ascendant Energy Co. of Rockland. Oakhurst will use the panels to heat water to wash milk crates and estimates the panels will save 5,000 gallons of oil per year. The panels cover 2,700 square feet and will be one of the largest commercial solar hot-water arrays in Maine.

Copyright © 2009 Blithen Maine Newspapers

<< back to story >>

John Patriquin/Staff Photographer